

CALL FOR PAPERS

// 9TH WORKSHOP ON

EXPERIMENTAL ECONOMICS FOR THE ENVIRONMENT

10 – 11 September 2024 | Bochum

Astrid Dannenberg

We are pleased to announce the 9th Workshop on Experimental Economics for the Environment on the 10th and 11th of September 2024. The workshop will take place at the Ruhr University Bochum. We are very happy to welcome Astrid Dannenberg (University of Kassel), Lorenz Goette (National University of Singapore) and John List (University of Chicago) as key-note speakers.

We are building a programme to promote the contribution of experiments to environmental economics and policy. Priority will be given to early career researchers (PhD students/postdocs), but submissions from researchers at all career levels are welcome. We encourage submission of projects at all stages and will plan sessions with pre-analysis plans, preliminary results, and working papers.

The deadline for submission of full papers, extended abstracts (max. 1 page), or pre-analysis plans is Friday, 31st of May 2024, and authors will be notified of acceptance of their contributions by Monday, 1st of July. Please indicate in your submission the stage of your work (pre-analysis plan, preliminary results, or working paper) and whether you qualify as an early career researcher.

Attendance is open and free to all. Travel and accommodation costs cannot be covered.

PAPER SUBMISSION

To submit your full paper, extended abstract, or pre-analysis plan, please fill out the following form.

We are looking forward to seeing you!

Lorenz Goette

John List

CONTACT

Mark Andor and the RWI team

Local organizing committee

ee4e@rwi-essen.de

RWI - Leibniz Institute for Economic Research

Department "Environment and Resources"

Research Group "Prosocial Behavior"

www.rwi-essen.de